ABSTRACT AMENDMENT

Please amendment the abstract as follows:

A portable electronic gaming device comprising: including a user input device (10) comprising including an extendible support (12) having at a first end a (13) tactile member (20) for user actuation and mounted at a second end (14) for pivotal movement, wherein the user input device has a first configuration (fig. 3A) in which the extendible support is retracted and a second configuration in which the extendible support is extended (fig. 3B), wherein in the second configuration the user input device is operable as a joystick game controller or wherein the user input device functions as an input device in both first and second operational configurations.